GET INSTRUCTIONAL TEAMS ON THE SAME PAGE

Schools that succeed have this in common: from the first grade classroom to the twelfth grade classroom to the principal's office, every teacher and leader speaks the same academic language. When a common overall lesson structure is followed school-wide, students know what to expect and will experience a higher success rate. Catapult Learning's Core Instructional Model provides structured professional learning opportunities and coaching support that gets your instructional teams on the same page with a consistent, cohesive, research-based instructional model.

Maximize Academic Learning Time in All Classrooms

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITTED TO YOUR SUCCESS

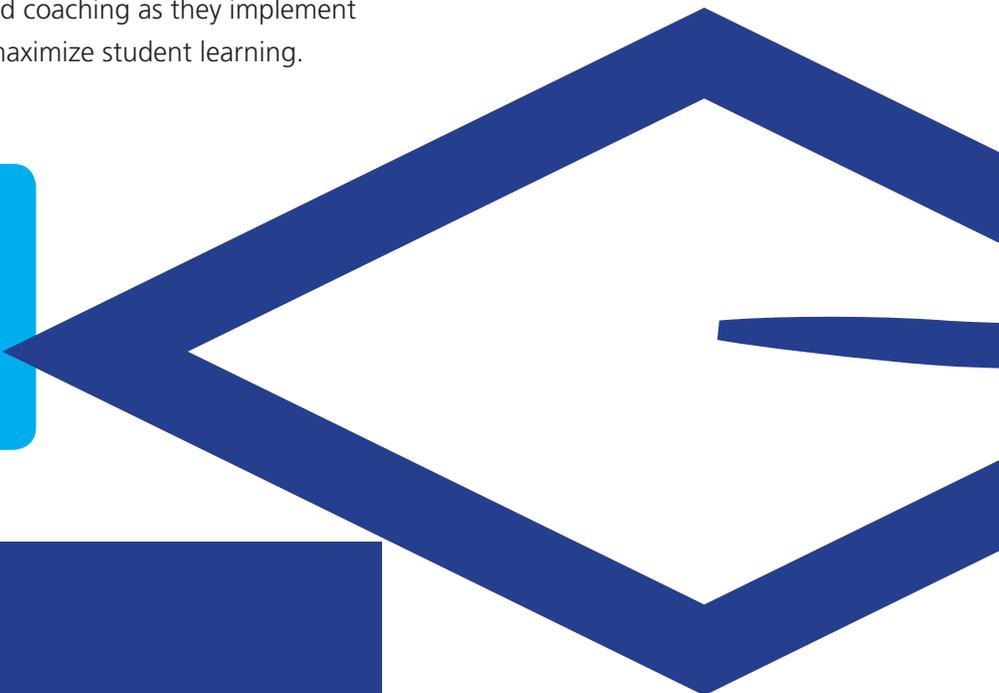

Partnership with Catapult Learning means a firm commitment to your success. Schools and districts large and small can benefit from this long-term program that is customized to focus on your school's particular area of need.

For Leaders:

Three professional development workshops focus on best practices for leading through change. Leaders will learn how to motivate teachers through the implementation of a common, overall lesson structure and instructional model, as well techniques for ongoing monitoring and creating sustainability. Follow-up coaching ensures that leaders have the support they need as they guide teachers through the new instructional model.

For Teachers:

Professional development workshops for teachers include a deep dive into the core instructional model, formative assessments, and how to monitor and adjust instruction. Teachers explore these topics in grade-band groups. Catapult Learning consultants partner closely with teachers during job-embedded coaching as they implement the new instructional model and maximize student learning.

The Core Instructional Model professional development program can be implemented in a single school or across an entire district.
